Agenda

- 1. The significant influence of director compensation philosophy and programs; and
- 2. Structuring and executing a fulsome, formal process for board and committee evaluations.

Compensation Decisions That Can Affect Board Culture

Board Responsibility is Ever-Expanding

- Mix of institutional knowledge, evolving experiences and skills, and fresh insights
- Starting to form new types of committees

~75% of S&P 500 firms have more than the three committees required by stock exchange listing standards: 36% have four, 21% have five, and 13% have six

Virtually all S&P 500 firms disclose assignment of ESG responsibilities to the full board and/or one or more committees.

Board Turnover Can be Useful

How does a board...

- > encourage and support a culture of routine refreshment?
- > increase more frequent rotation of committee members?
- fairly treat individual directors who will be leaving as the result of a turnover exercise?
- > attract non-traditional director candidates?

Board Compensation Can Evolve Too

• Attracting best-in-class nominees in an environment where there is competition for the best director candidates is increasingly difficult.

Market Practices Today are Generally Consistent

- Nearly all public companies (98%) use an annual cash retainer.
- Use of board meeting fees continues to decrease
- Nearly all committee chairs receive additional compensation
- Additional pay for committee members is decreasing
- Differentiated pay among committees
- The majority of public companies rely on restricted stock vs. options.
- Annual grants typically determined as a dollar value
- Grants often made at annual meeting date with one-year vesting
- Share ownership guidelines are used by most of the Top 200
- Some companies have holding requirements, limiting a director's ability to sell all or a portion of shares during their tenure.
- NACD standard is >50% of director pay should be equity

Using Compensation as a Tool for Change

If the board wants to:	Consider:
Attract non-traditional directors	<ul> <li>Offer relatively higher cash compensation</li> <li>Include initial equity awards</li> <li>Include annual stipend for director education</li> <li>Adopt modest share ownership guidelines</li> </ul>
Encourage tenured directors to retire	<ul> <li>Set minimal vesting periods for equity grants</li> <li>Implement hold-until-retirement requirements for equity</li> </ul>
Retain tenured directors with key institutional knowledge	<ul> <li>Provide share ownership guideline relief for directors who reach either a certain age or years of service</li> </ul>
Increase formal and/or more frequent rotation of committee members	Eliminate committee member compensation and increase board cash retainer

Communicating the Board's Worth

Follow the core guidelines used when disclosing executive compensation in the CD&A

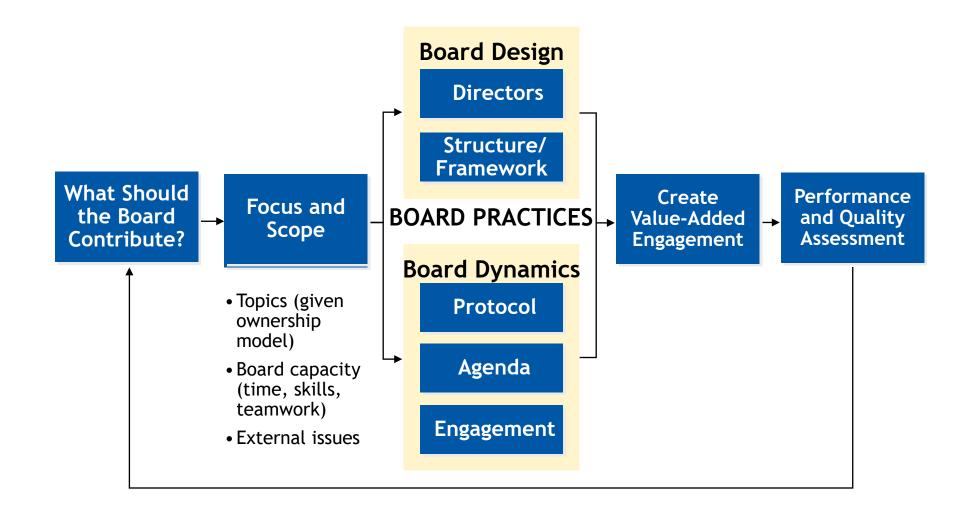

- Goals: Outline the philosophy, guiding principles, and objectives that drive the program design
- Design: Provide an overview of the pay mix structure; explain why it aligns with shareholder interests and how it supports a positive board culture and optimal refreshment cycles
- Rationale: Summarize the guiding feature of the program (i.e., what we do and why, and what we don't do and why)
- Governance: Explain how decisions are made

Private Companies, too!

Thoughtful Board Assessments Can Drive Continuous Improvement

Board-Building Framework: Understanding Board Performance

Building Board Capability: What Kind of Board do We Have and Want?

The "Passive" Board

The "Certifying" Board

The "Engaged" Board

The "Intervening" Board

The "Operating" Board

- Functions at discretion of CEO
- Limited activity and participation of board
- . Limited accountability
- Ratifying management preferences

- "Certifies" to shareholders that CEO is doing what board expects and management is capable of taking corrective action when needed
- Emphasizes outside/ independent directors; meets independently
- Informed of current performance; designates external board members to evaluate CEO
- Establishes an orderly succession process
- Willing and able to change management to be credible to shareholders

"Partners" with CEO

Recognizes boundaries in overseeing CEO and company performance

Meetings are useful, two-way discussions of key issues/decisions facing the company

Sufficient director industry and financial expertise adds value to decisions

Emphasis on defining role and behaviors required of board members

- Typical mode during a "crisis" situation
- Intensely involved in discussions about key decisions
- Frequent and intense meetings, often called on short notice

- Makes key decisions and management implements
- Not uncommon in early "start-ups" Filling gaps in management experience

Poll Questions 1 and 2

- Describe the current operating environment of your board at this time:
  - Passive
  - Certifying
  - Engaged
  - Intervening
  - Operating
- Describe the ideal operating environment of your board:
  - Passive
  - Certifying
  - Engaged
  - Intervening
  - Operating

Board Capability: How Boards Are Evolving

Management-led

Strategic Board

Agile Board

- Agenda set by management
- In-room discussion dominated by presentations and management
- Limited board/exec interactions
- High "social-strength" based network
- Lower time demands

- Agenda set jointly
- In-room presentation time limited; focus is on dialogue
- Extensive, multiple board/exec interactions
- Lower "social-strength" based network
- High time demands/ high engagement

- Agenda set jointly
- In-room presentation time limited; focus is on dialogue
- Extensive, multiple board/exec interactions
- Lower "social-strength" based network
- Board engagement varies based on need: board has ability to lean in and lean out

Building a Culture Fit for Purpose

- Realizing your board's potential requires a culture fit for purpose
- Boards should explicitly consider desired cultural norms and expected director behavior
- Board members must all actively live and champion the culture

Assessment

Polling Questions 3, 4 and 5

- What do you assess? (choose all that apply)
  - Board basics (scheduling, timing, prep, etc.)
  - Board leadership
  - Board members
  - Agenda content and emphasis
- Who conducts your assessment?
  - Board leader
  - Management support (General Counsel)
  - Lawyers
  - Third party
- Do you solicit opinions from executive management?
  - Yes
  - No

Building the Experience Curve: Using Feedback to Improve Performance

Takeaways

- Chairs must champion board assessment to best practice
  - To build the culture fit for purpose
  - To drive continuous improvement the maturational process
  - To build and take advantage of "collective intelligence" and team wisdom
  - Use the data collection/assessment as a counterweight to the natural information asymmetry faced by boards
- Chairs should use the assessment to lead improvements in board functioning
- Board assessment should be closed loop learning-action process: the board must always receive and discuss results, agree on indicated actions; take action and re-assess later
- Chairs should evaluate their own effectiveness and should ensure that there is another party and independent process for evaluating their own performance. Chairs should not conduct their own self assessment.
- Director evaluation should be included annually. Leverage the process to improve contribution and role of each director, include an individual development focus complete with individual feedback discussions
- Management opinion should be solicited; ideally a minimum of five C-suite executives should participate on a confidential basis
- Boards should use a third party every three years; where there is concern, confusion or contention, a third party should be strongly considered
